VOL. V, ISSUE 1

OFFICERS 1995-1996

David Shanker, M.D. President
Henry Roenigk, M.D. President-Elect
Arnold Gombiner, M.D. Vice-President
Bruce Bennin, M.D. Secretary
Kathleen Remlinger, M.D. Treasurer

The President

I think that the main reason that the Society elected me as president was that it was looking for a person with experience. Obviously, many of you must have known that I was president of my 8th grade class at Chicago's Clinton School in Rogers Park. No one else in my class would give a graduation speech. I graduated from Mather High School in 1977 and attended the University of Illinois in Urbana. Most of my time during these years was spent at Wrigley Field or White Sox Park because for over 11 years I worked as a vendor at the ballparks. This is one the best jobs a student could have. Not only did I see all the games, I also made enough money to pay my way through school. I worked with my brother and most of my friends, and we always had a great time. In fact, for the last 16 years I've played on a softball team called the Vendors with many of my friends from the ballpark.

After graduating from college, I attended the University of Illinois Medical School in Chicago. I did my initial dermatology rotation with Dr. David Fretzin and Dr. Denise Rubenstein at Michael Reese Hospital. I realized that this was the first time I completely enjoyed a rotation. Subsequently I did clinical research with Dr. Iris Aronson, and I told Dr. Larry Solomon at the University of Illinois that I hoped to pursue a Dermatology residency. Although Dr. Solomon claims that I was well qualified and that he liked me, I'm sure the real reason he chose me was that he was amused with having a dermatology resident with the last name of Shanker.

After completing my dermatology residency at the University of Illinois, I went into private practice in downtown Chicago. I've been very fortunate to work with two excellent dermatologists. Dr. Fred Szymanski and Dr. Milton Robin have been wonderful role models and friends. I've also been able to continue to interact with residents and students at my Friday clinic at Michael Reese. It's been a blast.

The highlight of my life is my family. My wife Lisa deserves a purple heart for putting up with me over the years. Arielle, 3½, and Emily, 1, are my joys. We're expecting our third child in January and we recently moved to a new house in Riverwoods. Much of my free time is spent with the kids. You can see us bicycling up the trails or playing in the park. I also waste my time on the Stairmaster trying to stay in shape, and I aggravate myself with fantasy sports and my computer.

I'm indebted to the above physicians and teachers. I'm particularly honored to be president of the Society and look forward to a great year.

David B. Shanker, M.D.

IN PASSING

Harold Plotnick (1925-1995)

Harold Plotnick, M.D. died May 25, 1995, from cancer at his home in Franklin, Michigan. Dr. Plotnick was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1925, the youngest of five children. He received an undergraduate degree from Dartmouth College and an M.D. degree from Wayne State University. He did his internship at the Jewish Hospital and his residency at the General Hospital, both in Cincinnati. Dr. Plotnick was a clinical professor of dermatology at Wayne State University's School of Medicine. He maintained a successful private practice in dermatology in Detroit for 37 years. He was a charter member of the Noah Worcester Dermatological Society, serving both as secretary-treasurer for five years and then president of that organization in 1978. He was also a member of the American Academy of Dermatology and on its board of directors from 1984 until 1988. He was past president of the Michigan Dermatological Society and a member of the American Dermatological Association.

Dr. Plotnick authored numerous scholarly papers and book chapters, and was a nationally and internationally recognized expert in occupational dermatology. Even though he lived and practiced in Detroit, Dr. Plotnick came to many of our Chicago Dermatological Society meetings. He was friendly and warm and always made younger members feel welcome at these meetings.

Survivors include his wife Evelyn, daughters Beth Singman and Sharon Starr, son Dr. Adam Plotnick, and a granddaughter.

Harold Thatcher (1908-1995)

Harold Wendell Thatcher, M.D. died on October 6, 1995, at his home in the Kenwood neighborhood of Chicago. Dr. Thatcher had practiced dermatology on the South Side since 1939 with his partner and mentor, the late Theodore K. Lawless, M.D.

Dr. Thatcher received his bachelor and medical degrees from the University of Minnesota. He studied dermatology at the University of Chicago and Bellevue Hospital in New York. In World War II, he was a lieutenant colonel in the Army Medical Corps. He was chief of the medical service at the Army regional hospital in Huachuca, Arizona, and a recipient of the Legion of Merit.

In a 1976 Chicago Tribune interview, Dr. Thatcher spoke of Dr. Lawless, who had died five years earlier. "Dr. Lawless," he said, "was a doctor in the old sense of the word. He dealt in humanity. The more people he could treat, the more he felt he had accomplished." These principles applied to the way Dr. Thatcher practiced as well. When doctors were charging $15, he was charging $3. He saw patients from many ethnic backgrounds; sixteen hour days were the norm. "I'm not anything special," he added. "I just had a good teacher."

Survivors of Dr. Thatcher include his wife, Marjorie; his son, Peter Simon; and a grandson.

RESIDENTS' CORNER

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Cook County Hospital

Sheryl Hoyer, M.D. is in private practice at Leone Dermatology, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Edward Milano, M.D. is doing a Dermsurgery Fellowship at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City.

Gabrielle Sabini, M.D. is in private practice at Dermatologic Diseases, Atlanta, Georgia.

Northwestern University

Leon Bernstein, M.D. has pursued a Mohs Fellowship under the tutelage of Roy Geronemus, M.D. in New York City.

James Herrmann, M.D. is in group practice at the Glen Ellyn Clinic, Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

Natalie Roholt, M.D. returned to her roots to practice with an established group in her home of Bemidji, Minnesota. Natalie holds the distinction of being the only dermatologist in Bemidji.

Rush-Presbyterian-St.Luke's Medical Center

Mark Hoffman, M.D. joined the part-time volunteer faculty on July 1st. He is in private practice with Kenneth Bielinski, M.D., Marshall Blankenship, M.D., and John Keane, M.D.

Theresa Magne, M.D. joined Mary Fredenberg, M.D., a former Rush dermatology resident, in private practice in Phoenix, Arizona.

University of Chicago

David S. Pezen, M.D. remained at the University as a faculty member. He is an Assistant Professor of Medicine and serves as the Director of the Dermatology Clinic. ## 1996 MIDWEST CLINICAL CONFERENCE

The 52nd annual Midwest Clinical Conference, sponsored by the Chicago Medical Society, will take place on January 19-21, 1996, at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel. The conference is geared toward primary care physicians. Numerous specialty societies contribute programs and speakers. The Chicago Dermatological Society will present its program on Saturday, January 20th from 3:00 pm to 5:00 pm. The speakers are the following:

1. Donna L. Stockton, M.D. - Melanoma
2. Jeffrey S. Altman, M.D. - Dermatologic and Laser Surgery
3. Nona M. Craig, M.D. - Dermatologic Manifestations of HIV Infection
4. Robert J. Signore, M.D. - Interesting Descriptive Terms in Dermatology

The program director and moderator is Benjamin A. Dubin, M.D.

ADVISORY BOARD

The Advisory Board provides the only opportunity (aside from the general business meeting of the A.A.D.) for members to voice their views regarding the policy and direction of the Academy. Lenore S. Kakita, M.D. is our current chairperson of the Advisory Board. She is dedicated to increasing the communication among the practitioners, members of the Societies, and the Board of Directors. These are the major issues currently facing the Board:

1. Recommend a "no" vote on the Bylaws Amendment on the ballot.
2. Request input from the members concerning the proposed ethical principles concerning the sale of products in the dermatologist's office.
3. HCFA survey on practice expense will need members to participate if called upon to do so.
4. A.A.D. will do a separate practice expense study with more codes used by dermatologists and needs members to participate.
5. Phase II of the members' needs survey.

Complete details of these topics can be obtained by contacting any of our local representatives to the Board:

James Ertle, M.D. - Executive Committee - 11th District (Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin)

Darryl Bronson, M.D. - Chicago Dermatological Society

Andy Lazar, M.D. - Illinois Dermatological Society

Barry Kirschenbaum, M.D. - Great Lakes Dermatological Society

NEW MEMBERS

Jamie Kang, M.D.

Dr. Kang received her B.A. in chemistry from Cornell University and her M.D. from Harvard Medical School. After her internship in internal medicine at Northwestern University-McGaw Medical Center, she completed a dermatology residency at the University of Illinois. Dr. Kang is in private practice with Dr. Barry Kirschenbaum in Chicago and is an assistant clinical professor at the University of Illinois.

Suzanne L. Westphal, M.D.

Dr. Westphal received her B.S. in biology from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania, and her M.D. from U.M.D.N.J.-Rutgers Medical School in New Jersey. After a 2-year residency in internal medicine at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, she completed her dermatology training at Cook County Hospital. She is currently in private practice in Bloomingdale and Arlington Heights with Doctors Guido Leone and Richard Giacobetti, and is an assistant clinical professor at the University of Illinois.

NEW RESIDENTS

Carla Retief, M.D. earned her B.A. in biology at Vanderbilt University, and her M.D. at the University of Tennessee in Memphis. She completed a PGY-1 year in Medicine at Northwestern University in Chicago.

University of Chicago

David Melamed, M.D. is a native Chicagoan who earned his B.A. in 1978 in Pre-Med and English and his M.D. from Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, Missouri in 1983. He was a Marshall Scholar at Oxford University in England earning B.A. and M.A. degrees in Economics in 1988. He was appointed to the Faculty of Economics at Oxford University in October of 1988 and received tenure in 1992 with Health Care Economics being his area of specialty.

Martin Miller, M.D. earned his B.A. Degree in Biochemistry from the University of California at Berkeley in 1984. He received his M.D. Degree from the University of Southern California in 1994.

University of Illinois

Samir Alaiti, M.D. graduated from Aleppo University in Syria. He completed a medical residency in Internal Medicine at the University of Illinois in Chicago.

Kathy Dziedzic, M.D. graduated from the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana. She received a M.S. in biochemistry from the University of Illinois and attended medical school at the University of Illinois, both in Chicago. She completed an Internal Medicine internship at the University of Chicago.

David Gruber, M.D. graduated from Union College in New York with a B.S. in Classics and Biology, receiving the Robert G. O'Neill Award in Classics. He attended medical school at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, and completed two years of Internal Medicine at the Evanston Hospital, Evanston, Illinois.

Beth Jester, M.D. received her B.A. in Business and Economics from Stephens College. She attended medical school at Loyola University Stritch School of Medicine in Chicago before completing one year in Internal Medicine at the University of New Mexico in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Loyola University

Brian Nickoloff, M.D., has recently decided to relocate his dermatopathology practice and research activities to Loyola University in Maywood, Illinois. Dr. Nickoloff previously was Director of Dermatopathology at Stanford University. For the past nine years, he had been at The University of Michigan where he was Director of the Immunohistochemistry Laboratory, Associate Professor of Pathology and Dermatology, and Scientific Director of the Cutaneous Oncology Program in the Cancer Center.

At Loyola University he plans to focus his full-time research efforts on his continuing NIH funded grants involving studies of psoriasis and Kaposi's sarcoma. He is primarily concentrating on clinically-based research activities, and would appreciate referrals of patients with these skin conditions who would be willing to have either punch biopsies or keratome samples of skin removed for research purposes. Such patients can be compensated for participating in these studies and should contact Dr. Nickoloff at Loyola University (708-216-5590) beginning in January, 1996. Dr. Nickoloff recently presented The Allan Lorincz Lecture at the last Chicago Dermatological Society on October 17, 1995, entitled "Role of Cell Survival Gene Products in Psoriasis," and plans to be an active participant in this Society.

Northwestern University

Brian Cook, M.D., has relocated his Mohs micrographic surgery practice to Northwestern University after 15 productive and enjoyable years at the University of Illinois. Brian's primary focus will continue to be as a Mohs surgeon at Northwestern. He will also be able to expand his research into the application of knowledge server technology in dermatology, the basic science of wound healing, and the use of sunscreens and sun protective behavior in at-risk preschool populations.

Brian graduated from the University of Illinois College of Medicine in 1984. At the University he met his wife, Maggie Winkler, class of 1985. After finishing his dermatology residency in 1989, Brian and Maggie backpacked for 6 months through Egypt, Kenya, Nepal, India, and Indonesia. Brian returned to do his Mohs fellowship with Dr. Barry Goldsmith, while Maggie finished her Internal Medicine residency and fellowship in Geriatrics and Clinical Pharmacology at the University of Chicago.

Maggie is now a senior editor at the Journal of the American Medical Association. They have two sons. Bob is four and John is two. They all share a passion for the works of Dr. Seuss.

Rush University

Heidi J. Baca, M.D., joined the Department of Dermatology at Rush Medical College on September 1, 1995, as an Assistant Professor. Dr. Baca comes to Rush after completing her Mohs and dermatology surgery training at the University of Pennsylvania. She is a graduate of the University of Illinois dermatology residency program.

Dr. Baca's cutaneous surgery practice is located in the Professional Building, 1725 W. Harrison Street, Suite #264, on the Rush Campus. In addition to Mohs micrographic surgery, Dr. Baca will offer laser surgery as well as a number of cosmetic dermatology procedures including hair transplantation, liposuction, sclerotherapy, collagen injections, and chemical peels.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Centennial Celebration

The Dermatology Department at the University of Illinois will be celebrating its 100th anniversary in December, 1995. On December 2nd and 3rd, there will be a special centennial meeting. This meeting will be jointly sponsored by the University of Illinois, Chicago Dermatological Society, and the Illinois Dermatological Society. The format will consist of lectures Saturday afternoon at the Omni Chicago Hotel by nationally recognized dermatologists formerly affiliated with the University of Illinois Department of Dermatology. The lecturers will be Dorinda Shelley, M.D., Walter B. Shelley, M.D., Ph.D., Kathleen Remlinger, M.D., and Darryl Bronson, M.D. There will be a cocktail party and dinner Saturday night. Several distinguished physicians will reflect on their experiences at the University as part of the after-dinner program. Many alumni of the University from all over the country plan to attend. On Sunday morning there will be a clinical meeting at the University. We encourage all members of our society to attend this unique meeting.

Children's Memorial Hospital

The Dermatologists at Children's Memorial Hospital are currently enrolling pediatric patients in a number of studies:

- A. For patients aged 3 and up (including adults) with non-bullous congenital ichthyosiform erythroderma, a study has been conducted using a new cream, Glylorin, which is both antibacterial and useful in managing scaling associated with this condition.
- B. Patients aged 3 to 17 years of age with atopic dermatitis may be eligible for an exciting new study to evaluate use of a non-steroidal ointment for treatment of atopic dermatitis (topical FK506, the agent used to prevent kidney transplant rejection).
- C. There are also a number of other studies for patients from age 6 months to adult with mild to moderate atopic dermatitis.

All patients will be referred back to their primary doctor after completion of any studies.

For further information call Marge Brogan, R.N., Study Coordinator at (312) 880-3574.

Practice for Sale

Julia M. Marshall, M.D., would like to sell her solo dermatology practice located in Hinsdale, Illinois. Her practice includes no managed care at this time and the collection ratio has consistently been 95%. It is a successful practice with opportunities to expand in cosmetic dermatology and/or laser usage. If you are interested in purchasing it, please feel free to contact Dr. Marshall at home (708-615-8954). It is probably best to call after 8 p.m., but you may leave a message on the answering machine at your convenience.
